Executive Security Services

Recent events expose the vulnerabilities that organisations and executives face both at home and in foreign markets. The increased potential for acts of violence has caused companies worldwide to evaluate their policies and security plans. From workplace violence issues related to layoffs, terminations and disgruntled employees to dangerous or unstable environments for corporate travelers, Kingdom Group Security Services provide a wide range of risk management solutions to help ensure their safety. Our services include consulting, protective and investigative solutions to corporations and their workforce, world renowned entertainers, athletes and diplomats. Our belief is that the best executive/personnel protection is based on advance preparations and planning, timely information, liaison with the local authorities and the use of highly trained professionals. We respond 24 hours a day to both known and unforeseen threats allowing our clients to conduct business as usual. Working within realistic parameters, we develop effective, yet low profile, awareness and protection programs for corporate personnel. Our experienced teams provide physical security for an individual, group or location 24 hours a day.

Security Surveys and Planning

A comprehensive physical security survey helps to identify strengths and potential vulnerabilities within offices, production facilities, warehouses and residencies of key personnel. We provide recommendations to secure areas or access that could be considered potential problems. If travel is included in the security plan, factors such as behavior patterns, travel routes, accommodations and transportation can be evaluated. These surveys become a key component in the overall security planning process. A comprehensive plan providing cost-effective recommendations to implement security strategies, policies, procedures, executive personnel protection, training and emergency planning can be provided.

Threat Assesment and Risk Analysis

Our team works with your organisation to conduct a risk analysis to evaluate the scope of concerns. The analysis includes identification of assets/personnel to be protected and a threat evaluation of the degree of risk or danger to an employee or operation from acts of violence or terrorism.

Depending upon circumstances, this could include additional individuals such as family members. Other factors such as political risk, criminal or terrorist activities may be considered during this process.

Advance Teams

Activities or events including high-profile executives sometimes require an “Advance Team” to conduct on-site inspections, evaluate risks and implement security measures. Our security professionals can coordinate travel routes, accommodations, communications and establish contingency counter measures in case of a breach of security, thresholds or other incidents.

Assessment Report

The objective of a security assessment is to provide management with a written report identifying threats and vulnerabilities, review of security policies and procedures, reinforcement of existing protocols, recommendation of security measures and implementation of definitive solutions. We work with your company to establish performance measurements, standards and tracking and reporting methods in line with your company’s requirements and expectations. Additionally, the assessments provide budget estimates for recommended actions. Once the recommended measures are implemented, Kingdom Group Protective Services can continue to be available for needed support.

Security Consulting

Proactively addressing potential areas of risk is crucial for an effective security program. The following are just some of the key deliverables from our consulting practice:

- Strategic Assessment Planning
- Risk Assessment
- Solution Design
- Security Implementation Plan
- Project Management
- Policies and Procedures Audit and/or Design

KGPS provides strategic assessment planning and consulting. Our highly experienced consultants conduct all assessments by working with your company’s key leadership to compare your firm’s current practices with the best practices in security management systems, human resources, physical security, workplace procedures and crisis management plans. A risk assessment essentially will provide your company with a roadmap to implement a successful security program. The risk assessment is based on the interrelationship of four key factors: Assets, Threats, Vulnerabilities and Safeguards.

Transportation and Equipment Coordination

Kingdom Group Security Services provide security drivers trained in evasive driving techniques. We prepare ground transportation in advance for pick-up and drop-off to client destinations. Coordination of armor-plated vehicles, chartered jet service or other means of transportation can be organized in countries around the world as well as in the United States. Our security professionals utilize the necessary equipment required for secured communications and protection including cell phones, 2-way radios with secured frequencies, defensive weapons and bulletproof wear. Technical Surveillance Counter Measures (TSCM) can also be implemented.

Crisis Management

Organisations must be prepared for unforeseeable events ranging from product tampering, terrorism, sabotage, kidnapping, extortion to political unrest. Investigations and crisis management services can guide your organisation through crisis identification, prevention and management. After first discussing and reviewing the perception of threats and business concerns, we will conduct independent surveys and audits of your programs, procedures and facilities and develop prevention programs, crisis plans and incident response strategies. Our crisis management solutions include (but are not limited to):

- Risk Evaluation and Analysis
- Risk Planning, Evacuation and Business Continuity
- Crisis Prevention Planning
- Incident Response

Risk Evaluation and Analysis

KGPS will assess and identify areas of residual risk as well as highlight the need for business decisions to mitigate risk, provide insurance or assume liability. Our consultants will propose solutions and manage the implementation of those preventive measures and programs identified by the risk assessment.

Crisis Planning, Evacuation and Business Continuity

KGPS helps businesses plan for crisis through contingency planning, development and training of a crisis team, a benchmark program in best practices, simulation exercises and post-event analysis. Not only can we provide evacuation assistance for your employees, we can help secure your facilities during tumultuous periods and help you resume normal operations as soon as possible.

Crisis Prevention Planning

The best form of crisis management is crisis prevention. Kingdom Group Security Services produce detailed, tailored prevention plans with defined procedures and delineated roles to avoid the incidents of:

- Product tampering or contamination
- Terrorism and/or sabotage
- Kidnapping and/or extortion
- Workplace violence
- Political unrest

Training through simulation exercises, KGPS provides our clients with an accurate picture of how to prevent crisis and, should an incident occur, how to minimize losses and regain control of the situation.

Incident Response

Our incident response services include event impact analysis, business resumption plans and recovery. Our services cover: incident management, natural disasters, product tampering and contamination, sabotage and terrorism.

Corporate Investigations

Studies indicate that fraud and related business abuses cost U.S. organisations over $400 billion annually. Although fraud is often perpetrated by individuals outside the company, one of the largest potential for losses may come from within. In fact, internal theft is one of the biggest threats to business today. To counter such trends, many companies turn to Kingdom Group Protective services for investigations to uncover fraud and other illicit activities. KGPS has extensive knowledge in the following core investigation areas:

- Fraud Investigations
- Financial Investigations
- Litigation Support
- Employee Vetting

KGPS utilizes vast experience and proven techniques to unearth the facts and present them in a manner that is comprehensive, documented and useable. Cases may include:

- Workers's compensation
- Kick-backs
- Accounting abuses
- Disability, property, casualty or product liability claims
- Expert testimony
- Evidentiary chain of custody
- Witness location
- Reference cheks
- Background checking
- Media searches
- Credential checks

Financial Investigations

Our financial investigators search for information on the integrity, financial health and reputation of an organization or company. This is done by probing public records and international databases covering patents, corporations, partnerships, contracts, SEC filings, news, business references and trade publications. Our investigations also uncover critical information regarding corporate documents, material contracts and agreements, current or past financial status of a business or entity, pending or past litigation, taxation, insurance and liability, governmental regulation filings, financial history and aquisition, partnership or joint venture agreements.

Employee Vetting

KGPS can help you in the vetting and hiring process by conducting a wide range of thorough background investigations. From routine to highly detailed reports, our investigative division will help uncover any discrepancies in the applicant's past and can create a program of specialized checks whenever needed. Our employee vetting usually includes investigating: job history, educational background, credit history, criminal background checks, obtaining detailed, verified references, conducting media searches and validating personal tiles and credentials.
